Library Computer Furniture

The Ross McDonald Company is focused on the sale and installation of high-quality, innovative library computer furniture, along with providing exemplary service and a wealth of product options. You'll be able to choose from a wide range of library computer furniture based on look and feel, and what's the best fit for your unique situation.

If you already know what library computer furniture (and/or library shelving systems) you want, our experienced installation team will take direction from your project manager or work directly with your construction manager or builder. If you require more assistance, we'll help you through all stages of design and implementation, with the library computer furniture that most accurately suits your environment and preferences. We've served public libraries, universities, private and public schools since 1969, and you can expect a professional, efficient operation and pleasing, effective results.

Choice Matters

Ross McDonald is the authorized supplier for many companies offering library computer furniture, which affords us the flexibility and vision to match client and product. Among the choices are The Worden Company, which has library computer furniture for just about every application imaginable. They allow for dozens of "standard" library computer furniture product styles while maintaining the ability to manufacture entirely custom library computer furniture products as your situation and space dictate. They also offer "green" library computer furniture options for the environmentally concerned client. TMC Furniture, Inc., specializes in creating unique environments through clean and sophisticated design, with a broad line of library computer furniture products and features from which you can choose. Gressco Furniture, Inc., offers bright, beautiful colors in imaginative children's furniture along with more classic library display options.
